Operation Rescue Edition

Dear Friends of LIFE,

I am thrilled to sponsor the AHA Hero Dog Awards for the fourth year in a row. My respect and honor for the animals who serve as heroes, including our Military dogs on the first line of defense, knows no bounds

Lois Pope,
Founder & President of LIFE

To me, all animals are heroes. From the loyal family pet that watches over house and home, to the police dog that serves and protects, and the beloved friend that comforts a sick owner, every animal deserves a loving home. My goal is to ensure that each and every one receives one. I want to see that animals are taken out of kill shelters and brought to no-kill shelters where they can be safe while waiting for their forever home.

In this month's issue of LIFEnotes you will read about a heroic rescue mission I undertook with American Humane Association to remove 200 dogs and cats that had been in imminent danger of being euthanized. Two of these adorable kittens are now a part of my own family.

I hope this is just the first of many such rescues.

*Love,
Lois*

On Saturday, May 30, 2015, thanks to Palm Beach philanthropist Lois Pope, American Humane Association, celebrity animal advocate Beth Stern, and a consortium of rescue groups, nearly 200 animals who had been in imminent danger of being euthanized found a new lease on life. On this bright and sunny morning a squadron of 10 airplanes flown by volunteer pilots departed Greenville, Alabama bound for airports across Florida. Each pilot carried with them animals destined for forever homes in Florida. Of the 200, 60 dogs and six cats landed at North Palm Beach County Airport and were greeted by a host of AHA supporters including Lois Pope and Beth Stern.

The Red Star Rescue Team and two fully equipped 50-foot Red Star Rescue trucks underwritten by Mrs. Pope were integral to the rescue. Pilots n' Paws is the volunteer organization of private aviation pilots who carried the animals to airports across Florida, including Palm Beach County, Tampa, and Orlando. A Second Chance Puppies and Kittens Rescue is the Royal Palm Beach-based volunteer pet foster group who will use its foster network to find temporary and permanent homes for the animals. Petco Foundation donated much-needed supplies for the animals.

And of course the story has the happiest of endings because the animals all found loving, forever homes.
